Congress Can Lower Gas Prices By:

- Cutting gas taxes and banning earmarks that drive up costs.
- Supporting Congressman Ryan's "Roadmap for America's Future" (H.R. 6110) is a good first step.
- Increase American oil production by allowing drilling in ANWR and increasing exploration in the Outer Continental Shelf (OCS).
- Authorizing the construction and expansion of refineries in the U.S.
- Ending the moratorium on oil shale production in the U.S.

America Deserves a Sound and Responsible Energy Policy

- The best way to reduce our dependence on foreign oil is to utilize the resources we currently have at our disposal while we wait on a viable market source of alternative energy.
- The free market, if allowed to work, will encourage the necessary innovation that will yield clean and cheap sources of energy.
- The United States is the most environmentally responsible and successful nation in the world, but current climate regulations proposed by the environmental lobby would put a stop to this prosperity and ultimately do more harm than good to the cause of energy independence and security.
